Cailloux Campus Support Facility Groundbreaking

Kerrville, Texas (July 30, 2015) – The groundbreaking ceremony for the Cailloux Campus Support Facility was held on July 30, 2015. The event began at 9:00 a.m. and was open to the public. In a partnership between the City of Kerrville and Playhouse 2000 (P2K), this multi-purpose support facility will supplement and expand the efficiency of the center's two performing spaces, the 800-seat Cailloux Theater and the "black-box" style VK Garage Theater.

Speakers included Jeffrey Brown, Executive Director of P2K; Project Architect Peter Lewis; Susan Neely Balentine, board member and co-founder of P2K; and Kerrville Mayor Jack Pratt. City officials in attendance included Mayor Jack Pratt and Councilmembers Gary Stork and Bonnie White; City Manager Todd Parton; and Gary Cochrane, Delayne Sigerman, Sheri Pattillo, Paul Stafford, and Jim Wilson of the Economic Improvement Corporation.

The soon to be completed facility will house large and efficient scenic and costume construction shops; space for storage of scenic elements, props, and costumes; expanded waiting and dressing rooms; and a large, flexible, safe, classroom / rehearsal / dance studio. When it is complete, the support facility will allow for significant growth in the center's ability to support programming for young local artists to learn all aspects of theatrical and musical performance.

This project is funded through the City of Kerrville Economic Improvement Corporation, Elizabeth Huth Coates Foundation, the Hal and Charlie Peterson Foundation, The Cailloux Foundation, and through the public fundraising campaign of local individuals and businesses in the community.
